

An unforgettable interior design and trend trail throughout the scenic streets of Paris

Ochre

Taken from the cricketing term "drift" and inspired by the dancing forms of driftwood as it glides through the water, the Drifter Light is hand-carved in oak by traditional British cricket bat makers. The pendant by Ochre is set with striking brass and saddle leather details with whole LED strips discreetly embedded within the piece. The graceful silhouettes of the Drifter pieces and the invariably careful consideration of the way light is cast from them is a result of intense research and a rigorous creative process. As each piece of wood has its own integrity, so too does each Drifter light. Casting a warm glow, the drifters are ideal to have above bars, kitchen islands and dining tables. This drive of reinterpreting age-old crafts with a contemporary sensibility is synonymous with Ochre with their aim of creating multi-functional pieces that enhance lives. Each Drifter piece is made to order ensuring impeccable standards of manufacture but simultaneously, each piece is entirely unique and can be customised according to the space.

Lincrusta

Lincrusta are delighted to be exhibiting again in Paris Déco Home. In their new Pop-Up location last year, 25 rue de l'Echaude, they showcased how versatile Lincrustais as a sculptural blank canvas to express yourself within your interior. A collaboration with multi-media artist Jan Erika resulted in an eye-catching contemporary collage of Lincrusta patterns.

They will be back in the same space for 2023 to reveal a brand-new design. The first in several years. Very Exciting!

L'Objet

Introducing the Grand Bazaar No. 30 Fragrance. An escape to the Sandal Bedesten of Istanbul with notes of cardamom, coriander, black pepper, nutmeg, saffron, cedar and leather. Available in two candle sizes and Japanese incense.

The Grand Bazaar scent is part of L'Objet's "Parfums de Voyage", a collection of aromatic expressions created from natural oils and essences, blended by hand. Each scent captures an unexpected moment of a journey, and recalls the magic of losing oneself in adventure.
